PROFILE

My name is Anđela and I want to start QA career. I have economic background and working experience in auditing. That gave me deep understanding of the financial system/process and developed my analytical thinking.

My IT path started with developing websites, and then I realized how important and interesting testing process is. So creating queries and simple automation process is now part of my everyday life.

I've created basic automation of applying for this position. You can check it, together with my previous work in the links provided bellow.

I will be glad to get a chance to elaborate more my skills.
